Thank you for confirming the egg was in your possession and delivered to Gallunos in Preldon, as expected.

It is unfortunate that the shell of the egg looked normal, so we can not be certain that the egg you received had not been switched by the time it entered your care.

We ask another favor of you — find Haslin, for we sent him a letter inquiring about the details of the egg's transport, but we have not received a response. His last letter to us was posted from Courmont, confirming that he had received the egg at that time.

Be aware that we have heard rumour of a cult with a nefarious reputation that has been gaining new followers in Hallangar.
